DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

1. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

2. Claims 35-38 and 40-41 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Dougherty #4,027,486. Dougherty discloses a rod segment 14 made of flexible material and being connectable at its ends (figure 5) to consecutive such segment. The rod segments being tubular in cross-section, having buoyant properties, and being hollow to contain water. Furthermore, such rod can be connected by rod receptacles 20a for parallelly retaining the rods.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

3. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

4. Claim 39 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Dougherty in view of Tazaki et al #3,991,576. Dougherty discloses the claimed invention except for the foamed material. Tazaki et al teaches that it is known to provide foam material 9 within a tube/rod as set forth at column 3, lines 50-51. It would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to provide a foamed material, as taught by Tazaki et al in order to provide buoyancy to a breakwater structure.

Allowable Subject Matter

5. Claims 1-34 are allowed.

Response to Arguments

6. Applicant's arguments with respect to claims 35-41 have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.
